This means that: your files including customer data, any stored payment information, username/passwords, and ANY content on your web server could now be in the hands of the virus writer: not good; especially if you store billing information.

In a rush, don't want to read details? Call 845-204-8672

There is a new exploit out that allows hackers to enter your website and edit your source code (usually PHP on Apache servers). The edit it to install a virus on EVERY visitors computer that comes to your web site. Is this happening to your personal or business web site(s) ? We can fix it quickly. Free site vulnerability analysis provided when you call, no obligations. We will provide you with a free price quote after evaluating your web sites code to see (a) where the virus is and (b) how we need to remove it.

Our team of Software Engineers are certified to test web sites, servers/hosts, workstations/desktops/laptops and routers for vulnerabilities of any type including the most up to date exploits and by-passes. We recently just saved a major NY company with over 2000 customers from disaster when a foreign hacker placed malware (or rootkits) which are forms of viruses on their site, and possibly stole all their customers contact information. Within 15 minutes we figured out (1) who, (2) how, (3) what, (4) and fixed the problem.

Beat that, bay guys!

If you need us to, we can even assist with prosecuting if there is enough damage that you want to do so... but, we won't if you don't want us too. All jobs are confidential unless otherwise agreed upon by all parties in writing.
